A GOOD LAW BECOMING POPULAR.

The curfew ordinance, which requires that children under age of twelve by residence or parents or guardians shall not be found upon the streets later than eight o'clock in winter and nine in summer, is steadily growing in popular favor. At first mention it sounds a little harsh and arbitrary, but the better it is understood and the softer it is tried, the more it is endorsed. There are at present over three hundred cities and towns in the United States where within the last two years the ordinance has been put in force.

Among the larger cities which have adopted the curfew law are Lincoln and Omaha in Nebraska, Topeka and Leavenworth in Kansas, Denver and Pueblo in Colorado, Kansas City and St. Joseph in Missouri, and Evanston and Quincy in Illinois. The testimony in favor of the ordinance is overwhelming, many of the city officials asserting that the decrease of crime and immorality since the adoption of the law is quite perceptible. The Chief of Police of St. Joseph says:

"After seven months of the enforcement of the curfew ordinance I have had no single instance of a curfew violation. That is to say, that at least seven-tenths of the people who have been subject to curfew approval and support. There has been a reduction of fully fifty per cent of convictions in the Reform School of St. Joseph."

Major Graham, of Lincoln, in answer to inquiries, writes:

"The enforcement of the ordinance is reflecting crime were a complete success; and at the present time I am satisfied that at least seven-tenths of the people who have been subject to curfew approval and support. There has been a reduction of fully fifty per cent of convictions in the Reform School of St. Joseph."

Commission is unnecessary.

It seems probable that the retirement of the greengrocers will eventually become a national issue, like bimetallism. Secretary Gage's plan is strictly for good money, and the plan for the setting aside of the greenbacks and the taking of the Government out of the banking business. The retirement of the greengrocers means, in a nutshell, the taking of the hands of the Government and placing them in the control of private individuals or corporations.

If the Democrats of Kentucky, and more especially the editors, would bear in mind the motto of our beloved State, there would be less schism and more genuine prosperity in our grand Commonwealth.

COMING HOME.

Main street in Louisville talked mightily ugly about the "Bryan anarchists" in 1896 and vowed that all the country needed was a restoration of order by the election of McKinley and the perpetuation of the gold standard.

They told us that immediately upon McKinley's election, money would become plentiful and prosperity would prevail in all lines of business. Saturday one of the largest wholesale houses on Main street in Louisville, B. M. Clegg & Co., failed for $100,000.

The Courier-Journal, which never tires of abusing anybody who dares to suggest that the times are not just like they ought to be, allowed Mr. B. M. Clegg, the head of the assigned firm, and for many years one of Louisville's best business men, to make this statement through its columns:

"It is to be hoped that those legislators who will be called upon to act in the matter, will not allow the intimidations or mercenary motives of the school book trust emissaries to stand between them and their duty to the people. There can be no doubt that Kentucky is in the power of a school book trust or some combination of affairs which compels them to pay an exorbitant price for very common books. The people demand relief and the legislators should do their duty."

The New York Sun of Friday published a list of all pensioners receiving over $45 per month. Kentucky stood up with eighteen-nine, two drawing $190, sixty-one $72 and twenty-six $5. The Sun is continually fighting its fight against fraudulent pensioners and insists that the pension list is a roll of honor and that it must be purged of all frauds.

If the Democrats of Kentucky, and more especially the editors, would bear in mind the motto of our beloved State, there would be less schism and more genuine prosperity in our grand Commonwealth.

Union will elect Governor and statehouse officers, as follows: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. This list of States includes every section of country and the results will be a fair indication of the political sentiment of the people.

It transpires that the Government has quite a job on its hands in disposing of the contract for conveying the supplies to the stranded Klondike miners.

It is an easy task to appropriate $200,000 for a relief fund, but when it comes to actually handing the grub over to the sufferers, it is quite another matter.

Mr. Conveying the supplies to the objective point will amount in dollars a pound, the latter figure averaging more than the appropriation. The appropriation will need another appropriation to insure the success of the venture.

It is to be hoped that those legislators who will be called upon to act in the matter, will not allow the intimidations or mercenary motives of the school book trust emissaries to stand between them and their duty to the people. There can be no doubt that Kentucky is in the power of a school book trust or some combination of affairs which compels them to pay an exorbitant price for very common books. The people demand relief and the legislators should do their duty.

It seems probable that the retirement of the greengrocers will eventually become a national issue, like bimetallism. Secretary Gage's plan is strictly for good money, and the plan for the setting aside of the greenbacks and the taking of the Government out of the banking business. The retirement of the greengrocers means, in a nutshell, the taking of the hands of the Government and placing them in the control of private individuals or corporations.

What we want is a national currency, backed by the resources of the country, and not a private money, depending solely upon the stability of private corporations. This is what the people demand and what Democracy is in favor of as evidenced by the platform of 1896, which says:

"Persons alone has the power to coin and mint money, and President Jackson declared that this power could not be delegated to any corporation or individual. We therefore demand that the power of minted to circulate as money by government shall be retained by the Government, and we demand that all paper which is made a legal tender for debts due to the United States shall be issued by the Government of the United States, and shall be redeemable in gold or silver."

It is hinted that a majority of the school superintendents and prominent educators of the State are in the employ or financially responsible to the school book trust, which pays them to make light of the matter and to use their influence upon the people's representatives to allow any legislation pertaining thereto to go by default. We hope and believe that this is not true. There is perhaps no class of persons who stand closer to the people and who understand their needs better than the school teachers, the more prominent of whom become superintendents and more advanced educators, and certainly they cannot afford to work against the interests of their patrons—the people—for any consideration whatever. It is claimed, and upon good grounds, that the people are now forced to pay almost four dollars for every book they buy. The master deserves compensation, but fair men should oppose earnest efforts in the premises. A thorough investigation will hurt nothing nor jeopardize any honest interest.

We notice there is a tendency among some of the newspapers of the State to belittle and disparage the effort to rescue Kentucky from the book board monopoly. Just why it is, it is hard to surmise, unless it is to indicate that the author disagrees with popular sentiment. Surely newspaper men above all others should know most about this subject, as it comes within the bounds of printing and publishing, and we can hardly see how any well informed newspaper man can fail to see the injustice which is inflicted upon the people by compelling them to buy school books at a very comon quality at a price which is greatly in excess of the actual worth of the books. It is simply robbery in polite disguise.

To the right is the leader of the campaign for sound money, as he was as well as the head of a fight for a protective tariff. He is a very ordinary and very decent man, but a most kind, who has more faith in money than in discussion, and in candor than in concession.

As to whether Mr. Hanna's methods will win, remains to be seen. The balloting began yesterday and the outcome of affairs at Columbus could not be foreseen at the hour THE HERALD went to press. Indications are for a long and bitter fight. The more respectable Republicans and those opposed to boodle and coercive methods, swear Mr. Hanna shall not win. Mr. Hanna swears he will. And so there you are.

DURANT HANGED AT LAST.

THE MURDERER OF BLANCHE LAMONT MEETS HIS FATE.

He Died Game and Showed no Signs of Flinching at the Last Moment.

A HISTORY OF THE FAMOUS CRIME.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Theodore Durrant, convicted of the murder of Blanch Lamont, and accused of the killing of Minnie Williams, has expired at 10:30 p.m. in San Quentin prison at 10:30, and in a few seconds the young medical student had given up his last breath.

The lad candidates for State Librarian have agreed to a canvas early next week between Goodell, chairman of the joint panel, and called the meeting for next Tuesday night. Miss Pauline Martin had been drawn second in the lead and Miss Calhoun is a close second. The other candidates are nicely and evenly matched.

A Klondike Company.

(Lethbridge Gazette.)

A movement is being organized to organize a company for logging claims in the Alaska gold fields.

The scheme is to form a stock company with shares at $50 each, limiting the amount to be sold to $1,000, sufficient to send two all-black-tailed men to the Klondike country.

On the first day of the new year the section men are to use their best endeavors to locate paying claims and open mines upon them.

The season opens in about two weeks and the men will be required to complete their organization at an early date.

This scheme will enable those who do not care to risk the exposure to repeat the same mistake.

The section men will risk their lives in the hope of finding a rich strike.

HISTORY OF THE CRIME.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—William Henry Theodore Durrant, who was born at 10:30 p.m. on Jan. 2, 1875, in San Quentin to-day, gave his life in exchange for the sake of two young women, who were members of the church to which he belonged.

The young critics were popular in their street. He had been a church member until his arrest, and had been a model young man of industries, who was trying to work his way through a medical college.

The only reason he was arrested was because of his nature, which seemed to him to be that of a saint.

He had been a prominent member of the Emanuel Baptist church for several years and for a year previous to his arrest had assisted the pastor in his capacity, he made the acquaintance of Blanch Lamont and of Minnie Williams.

Blanch Lamont disappeared April 3, 1896, and was found dead in a room occupied by Minnie Williams, was found naked, naked, in the library. A number of ugly knife wounds and some that had been cut into the wooden floor of the study had been made. From some of the young woman's friends it had been learned that she had been seen the evening before she disappeared with Durrant, and that he had given her his promise.

He went to a saloon, told a lot of his friends good-by, informed them of his resolution, and again again a place of safety.

He started to the door, the glass was shattered from him, but he turned quickly and emptied the remaining contents of the paper into his mouth. Then he left the place.
